A DEATH TRAP.

Sudden Collapse of a Wing of the State-House at Madison, Wis.

The Laborers on the Roof Hurled to the Ground Seventy Feet Below.

Five of Their Number Dead, Four Dying, and Seventeen Others Injured.

The Work of Rescue Prosecuted at Great Risk of Life and Limb.

Probable Cause of the Horror—What the Contractors Say—The Loss $75,000.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—At a quarter to 5 o'clock this afternoon the south truss of the south wing of the State-House and its canopy of construction fell out-ward and fell with a tremendous crash, carrying immediately following to the workers at the roof. About fifty masons, carpenters, slaters, plasterers, and laborers were at work in the great building, which is 70 to 120 feet, and command of them fell stones, scaffolding, and debris, weighing several tons in bulk. The noise of the collapse was terrific and lasted fully half a minute, to a series of successive crashes which were heard for miles around. A vast cloud of dust and chips and broken beams flew into the air and settled upon the city, while great masses of stone were scattered all over the south half of the Capitol Park.

THE WORK.

As soon as the crash had subsided the screams and groans of the injured could be heard. There was a general rushing of people toward the spot, and in three minutes fully 5,000 persons were congregated at the base of the ruins. The east and west walls stood upright, while somewhat, the centre of the building being a chaos of shattered masonry and splintered wood and iron work. The south truss, with its gentlemen iron and stone girders and massive balcony, was leveled to the ground, giving a clear view of the interior. About a dozen workmen were seen hanging to their lives from many of the upper rafters, which were attached to the east-walls and did not fall. They had become entangled in the partial ruin, though three others had fallen one or three and injured them from helpers.

THE WORK OF RESCUE.

The local fire and police companies were early upon the spot and availed the rules of great aid to the lives of the workmen, for the side walls had helped considerably and cannot fail to topple over at any moment. Meanwhile a guard of special police was formed and were directed to keep the crowd away from the neighborhood of the walls. The work of relief proceeded as quickly as possible, although in several cases unfortunate men had hopelessly mangled bodies were lying in ambush, caught by their legs at the floor lights of the city and several feet. Several were dug out of the ruins which had buried two or three men fully ten feet deep. By 6 o'clock seven men, known, to be in the building at the time of the disaster had either reported at the contractor's office or had been accounted for in that way, or rescued. Some of the unfortunates were taken to the governor's office in the main State-House building, which presents the appearance [illegible] of an army hospital; others were conveyed to the boss and better rooms and others to their homes in the city. The list of dead at this hour, 6 o'clock, is as follows:

THE DEAD.

William G. Jones, of Milwaukee, foreman of [illegible] work, aged 35.

James Kelly, laborer, of Madison, aged 35; leaves a family of [illegible].

Richard Smith, mason, of Madison, died after [illegible].

William Edgar, mason, of Madison, an old [illegible].

Bernard Hanlon, laborer, of Madison, another old settler.

James Leech, mason, of Madison, aged 45, [illegible].

All of the dead were terribly mangled.

THE INJURED.

The following were severely injured and cannot survive:

Henry Dietrich, mason, of Madison, left leg broken and chest crushed.

Matthew Smith, son of Richard Smith, a mason, of Madison, head terribly cut.

David Slaughter, laborer, of Madison, an ex-[illegible], left arm broken and [illegible] crushed in.

THE INJURED.

Those not dangerously wounded, though many of them are badly cut up, are:

Miss Bennett, mason, of Janesville, cut on head.

Willis Rose, carpenter, of Baltimore.

William Judge, carpenter, of Madison, badly bruised.

Arthur Lewis, carpenter, of Madison, head cut.

Ed Bates, mason, of Rock County, seriously hurt.

Ed and John Page, brothers, masons, of Milwaukee, badly hurt.

William Bates Jr., laborer, of Madison, face and cut.

Ole Lewis, carpenter, of Milwaukee, head hurt.

Orin Edwards, foreman of masons, of La Prairie, Rock County, head and ears cut.

John Clark, plasterer, of Milwaukee, arm broken.

James Rose, of Milwaukee, slightly.

Sol Cary, John Cox, Ed Clemens, and Otis Lewis, masons, all of Madison.

[illegible] cases, Milwaukee.

The number is that of the writing of the dead, four fatally injured, and seventeen not seriously hurt.

CARING FOR THE WOUNDED.

The wounded are being carefully attended to. Dr. Hall is in charge, assisted by a corps of [illegible] physicians, and Governor Smith is also in attendance. The Governor's deputy will be left [illegible], [illegible] arrangements will be made to [illegible] investigate the cause of the terrible disaster.

THE CONTRACTORS AND THE BUILDING.

The contractors are John Beston, [illegible] of Milwaukee County, and Oscar Darling, of Janesville, under the firm title of Beston & Darling. The firm secured the contract a year ago by contract for the [illegible] [illegible] which is [illegible] to the State-House. Their [illegible] is to cost $200,000, the contract [illegible] to be used by the Supreme Court and State Law Library, together with some of the State officers, and the south wing by the State Historical Society. The north wing is nearly finished, and is a magnificent piece of architecture. It is the south wing, a duplicate of the north, that collapsed. The outer walls were finished and the roof was being [illegible]. The latest, with great [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE TRIAL.

CONTINUATION OF THE PRISONER'S ANTI-MORTEM.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The Carpenter case was again resumed this morning in the presence of a large audience in the entrance of the Carpenter preliminary inquiry. It has been a busy day for the defense, who have called numerous witnesses to the stand, and whose testimony appears to weaken to a very considerable extent. The most important feature of the proceedings was the appearance of Mrs. Mary Carpenter, aged 70 years, mother of the defendant, on the witness-stand. Her appearance in that of a white-haired old lady, and the counsel in particularly marked with the striking resemblance of the aged mother to her son. She spoke in a low, tremulous voice, and during her examination was listened to with marked attention, and a good deal of consternation failed to shake her testimony in any particular.

A DRAMATIC INCIDENT.

When leaving the witness-stand she passed by her son, took him by the hand, kissed him, and passed on, after which the several witnesses for the prosecution were called to be examined by his counsel and her. She has never once left the court-room, and it was the first meeting since his arrest.

A DESCRIPTION OF THE PRISONER.

The testimony will be somewhat cumulative however, and your correspondent anticipates the early sale of tickets elsewhere as to the decision of the Judge—viz.: hold to bail.

THE PROCEEDINGS THIS MORNING.

John J. D. Long testified: Live in Logansport; have been a Constable and Deputy Sheriff for between years; have known J. Carpenter; have not been engaged as to the latter to this case; never warned the attorney testifying to Mrs. Carpenter's reputation for truth and as Stephen Young; this time; examined to court; have kept Sheriff Dunn out to subpoena witnesses; J. Carpenter under oath; never tried to bribe; was in jail three days; was released on bail; was in jail; was released on bail; was in jail; was released on bail; was in jail

A LOTTERY SCHEME.

IS GOING LIKE A HOUSE.

New York, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The city has recently been flooded by mail with circulars announcing a lottery to be soon to be instituted by the Government of the City of Hamburg, where prizes aggregating over $1,000,000 are to be distributed to investors. The circulars have been sent to many persons addressed to persons in this city, the names, occupations, and residences of whom have been taken from the city directory. With these circulars announcing the great prizes to be drawn is an order to remit for tickets, which the person to whom the circular is sent is requested to fill up and inclose in an envelope and forward, all prepaid, to "Carl Spitzedorf, Hamburg, Germany," together with a post-office money order for the amount of the tickets required. The circular and order both giving the address of the Hamburg company in Austrian money. These circulars were brought via Southampton by the steamship which arrived Monday last, and the mail was distributed Tuesday. As the lots promise the sale of others tickets at liberally, the promoters of the scheme have adopted this method of getting a knowledge of it before the people of New York, and have sent the mails to that person. The circular inquires for subscribers as a banker. It may be that the same trick will be played in Chicago and other Western cities.

Mr. Von Lengerke, the German Vice-Consul, said today that there existed cities in Germany where lotteries were legally held, and Hamburg was one of them; but he knew nothing of the lottery announced to the circular of this person to whom the notice was directed to be sent.

At the offices of the different German citizenship companies it was said the magnificence of the prize and the general character of the circular would indicate that there was something not altogether clear in the affair, and one of the members of the German Society remarked, even in the office, that he had heard nothing of the lottery since during the past week, which he had been assured, if it existed, would be the talk of the town.

Albert Ings, a large manufacturer of the province of Alsace Lorraine, stated to a correspondent that the mails which have reached there from New York during the past week contained circulars announcing the same scheme, but before the subscription to parties not in a position to know that the mails which have reached their destination on the continent contained no intimation that they were connected with such a scheme. Mr. Ings has a large consignment of the products of Alsace Lorraine now on the docks and in the warehouses of this city, and he has been assured that the mails which have reached their destination on the continent contained no intimation that they were connected with such a scheme. Mr. Ings has a large consignment of the products of Alsace Lorraine now on the docks and in the warehouses of this city, and he has been assured that the mails which have reached their destination on the continent contained no intimation that they were connected with such a scheme.

TOO MANY WIVES.

A BIGAMIST SENTENCED.

Jersey City, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Oayi Le Tourte, a notorious swindler, forger, and bigamist, was today sentenced to four years' imprisonment in State Prison by Judge Depue. He is at the Central Office awaiting on a charge of bigamy. The complainant against him was Jennie La Tourte. Nov. 19, 1877, her first husband, James Hill, died in the City of Chicago. The following day (at) months, accompanied only by the widow, who takes to Fairville, in the northwest part of this State, where they were to be joined. La Tourte was on the train and succeeded in engaging her to accompany Hutchinson register to him, but before they were married La Tourte was arrested on a charge of forgery and thrown into prison in Baltimore, O. July 30, 1879, she became the wife to a whitewashed jail in a little country village. Justice Steele, of Utica, and a few other persons were present. Oayi La Tourte's victim in that city, to do with a short time and then deserted her. The next she heard of him was that he had married a Miss Ida Hugo, of Sidersville, and that the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas Sidney, of No. 67 West Twentieth street, July 19, 1880. La Tourte was arrested on a similar charge of abandonment and ordered to put up $1,000 or go to jail. He deposited $500 with Superintendent Blair, of the Harlem and Central, as security. When the case was gone to jail to more and to arrest to appear in court. He endeavored to get to Canada, but was captured by the police of this city, and they were not locked into jail it was found that there were two complaints against him in Philadelphia of swindling, and proof of the same was sent to this city. He formerly resided in Chicago.

A SPECIAL DISPATCH.

A special agent has been privately employed for some time in the Scott Station House in East Jersey street, Newark, who made public today. The prisoner implicated is Theodore H. Miller and the charges against him are embezzlement, bigamy, passing bad money, &c. Miller was employed as special agent and as a means of serving summonses issued by Justice H. C. Bellamy. He was admitted to bail, and was the last heard from of the notorious Miller after professing to have employment a charge of bigamy was put in jail. The Scott Station House is the home of such a two active officers. After search he at last found and was brought before a committing magistrate, but witnesses and complainants spoken, the charges were dismissed. Shortly after this was done Miller had two warrants issued against him, charging him with embezzlement and disorderly conduct, and in the last he had other charges made out to him. Miller was then arrested and committed to jail in default of bail. He was released on

At a meeting of the General Freight Agents of the several roads interested in the various points in Missouri River points from the various points of supply, including Wisconsin points, held at Commissioner Midgley's office a few days ago for the purpose of ascertaining differences that have sprung up in the several rates to the Missouri River points, it was decided that Commissioner Midgley should appoint a committee of seven leading freight agents to prepare differential rates, to come into effect on the 15th inst. The committee met in accordance with the instructions, and on the 1st inst. Commissioner Midgley announced the committee, and it was expected that a meeting would perfect the rate agreement at 10 and the next morning would be ready to submit their report. Some of the committee have been in session ever since, but as yet have failed to agree upon a basis of rates. The agreement is not a pooling arrangement, but simply a traffic agreement to settle the differences of rates that have risen between railroads, and which have been going on for several years past. IN GENERAL.

A female child about 5 months old was found on the doorstep of James Campbell's residence, No. 10 Sidney avenue, Hyde Park, last evening, and was taken to the House of the Friendless.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Messrs. Spencer, Opticians, Buildings, was as follows: 7 a. m., 42 degrees; 10 a. m., 47; 1 p. m., 50; 4 p. m., 50; 7 p. m., 48; 10 p. m., 46. Barometer, 7 a. m., 30.00; 10 a. m., 30.00; 1 p. m., 30.00; 4 p. m., 30.00; 7 p. m., 30.00; 10 p. m., 30.00.

During the four days ending June 30, 1868, the number of cattle fed at the stockyards in this city was 20,000, with an average increase in weight of 50 pounds per head. The total increase in weight was 1,000,000 pounds, or 500 tons. The total number of cattle fed during the year ending June 30, 1868, was 70,000, which is 10,000 head less than during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1867.

The two vessel Stewart lying with their sterns at the Chicago docks were ordered by order of court sold to the Training School at Pewaukee county, last week, but the sale did not take place, the captain not being able to get the vessels out of the river.

The following petitioners were appointed Tuesday to represent the Chicago Board of Trade at the Farmers' Board of Trade Convention, to be held in Washington the middle of January: George M. Bogue, C. J. Gage, Harris Hamlin, C. M. Kellogg, J. Russell Jones, W. H. Crocker, George H. Dunlap, A. H. Wright, A. W. Goodman, and J. S. Reese.

The Slippery Ornithological Club held its regular monthly meeting at the residence of Thomas Lee evening. Donations of specimens and contributions to the library were received and provision made for the purchase of a safe, and for many other purposes. Mr. Clark read a paper on "Bird Migration in the Mississippi Valley," and Dr. C. Wilcomb, of St. Louis, Mo.

A number of a number of wholesale clothiers of Chicago are now passing at the Grand Pacific to consider a proposition made to general managers of Express Companies, relative to the formation of a National association, and a number of proprietors of hotels are in attendance upon Mr. H. B. Hayes, President of the Board of Managers of the Express Companies, to consider the matter and report at the next meeting.

Last night a couple of officers found an intoxicated man on Clark and Van Buren streets, who had the effrontery to resist before they were done with him, saying that they were going to an express wagon. They did not succeed. The policemen found a number of large packages in the possession of the man, and on the strength of a few papers they found in his pockets, that he was Peter Brown, of Kingston, Mass., he is supposed to be a confidence.

At the annual election held at rooms of the Chicago Association Wednesday night the following officers were elected: President, Joseph L. Thompson; Vice-Presidents, Francis Lee Hunter; Treasurer, George Sumner; Secretary, George Otis Bogue. Executive committee, Messrs. Otis Bogue, Hamilton, Hunter, Lee, Thompson, Sumner, Hall, Hoffman, Hoyt, Hoyne, Hall, Bogue, and Gilbert. The annual meeting for the election of officers will be held on the first Wednesday in January, 1869.

Some solicitude was created in Hooley's Theatre last evening after the second act of "David Garrick" by a large black cloud apparently issuing from the ceiling over the stage. Some excitement was the result of a few moments' confusion, but the cause of the cloud was soon explained to be a large quantity of steam which had escaped from the boilers in the basement, and found its way through the floor of the stage. The performance was then resumed.

Last evening about 10 o'clock left by the Grand Trunk train for Port Huron, there to take one of the Superintendent cars of eastern railroads, about 60 of the accumulated ten-dollar-bill Wisconsin, Illinois, and Michigan and about fifty are from this city. They were taken from the burnt safes on the Port Huron, the night of January last, supposed to be the work of burglars. The bills are all on the Bank of Commerce, Detroit, and are supposed to be counterfeit.

Last night a man named Thomas Lee, while engaged in a melee with a number of others on the corner of Clark and Van Buren streets, was struck on the head with a billy in the hands of Officer Hanrahan, and was taken to the station-house, where he was locked up. He was found to be severely injured, and was taken to the County Hospital, where it is expected he will die. Lee is a resident of Chicago, and has been employed in Porter's saloon, Main, between Lake and South Water streets.

Henry Meyer, of Lake View, narrowly escaped a serious accident at Halsted avenue and Lincoln street last evening. He was driving his Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad coach at that point with a team of runaway horses, when the coach struck a horse and buggy, the occupants of which were thrown out. Meyer was thrown from his seat, and fell between the horses, but escaped without injury. The horses were stopped by Officer Hanrahan, of the Fourth Ward police, before they had gone far, and were restored to their owner's office.

Nearly all the members of the County Board will vote this fall in accordance to the wishes of the Chicago Board of Trade Executive Committee in Washington, viz., for the purpose of securing a uniform commission to accomplish operation of that institution. The vote will stand as follows: Yes, 11; no, 4; not voting, 2. Among the Democratic members a committee of the Chicago Democracy will urge similar instructions to members-elect.

ACCIDENTS.

While coupling cars yesterday morning in the yards at Sixteenth street and Western avenue, John Robinson, a switchman employed by the Pittsburg & Fort Wayne Railroad, had his left arm severely bruised by the buffers, but not so severely crushed that amputation of the limb was necessary. He resides at No. 10 Sixteenth street.

While standing upon the Chicago & Northwestern freight track near Ashland avenue last evening, Samuel Dean, a switchman employed by the Company, in some manner fell, and was run over by a passing train. His left leg was crushed so badly that amputation was necessary. He was conveyed to the County Hospital, where it is expected he will die.

Henry Meyer, of Lake View, narrowly escaped a serious accident at Halsted avenue and Lincoln street last evening. He was driving the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad coach at that point with a team of runaway horses, when the coach struck a horse and buggy, the occupants of which were thrown out. Meyer was thrown from his seat, and fell between the horses, but escaped without injury. The horses were stopped by Officer Hanrahan, of the Fourth Ward police, before they had gone far, and were restored to their owner's office.

Nearly all the members of the County Board will vote this fall in accordance to the wishes of the Chicago Board of Trade Executive Committee in Washington, viz., for the purpose of securing a uniform commission to accomplish operation of that institution. The vote will stand as follows: Yes, 11; no, 4; not voting, 2. Among the Democratic members a committee of the Chicago Democracy will urge similar instructions to members-elect.

Production This Season of Lumber and Shingles—A Reduced Output Sold at Good Prices.

SAN FRANCISCO, Mich., Nov. 7.—[Special.] The protection of timber and salt on the Ohio tributaries to the harbormen. There has been an active demand for good timber the entire season, the supply being inadequate to meet the requirements of the trade, and $200,000 to $300,000 has to be put upon contracts already have contracted for. Prices for good timber are as good as ever obtained but men are less at $7 to $8 for shipping cuts, $7 to $10 for common, and $10 to $12 for upper grades, under Saginaw inspection. All straight sawmill timber has sold all the way from $5 to $6 per 1,000 ft. There is an unusually large proportion of the stock on this river remains to come, and for this there is but little demand, with a large accumulation of stocks on the sidewalks. Cedar logs is from $1 to $1 per 1,000 feet more than the ruling quotations last year. Lumber has still a drag in the market owing to the large quantity put in, and has sold at $7 to $8.50 against $7 to $8 last season.

The mills commenced operations late, and the estimated cut is about 500,000,000 feet, against 1,000,000,000 last to date. The cut heavier than has been active, the stocks of carried over account mainly being responsible to meet the supply. There will be about 500,000,000 feet of logs on hand at the close of the season to run next season, 50,000,000 feet on the river of 1887. Operations in the log the woods will be largely curtailed this winter, the largest operators only operating to the extent required for their own mills. The exports of forest products from the Saginaw River from the opening of navigation to Nov. 1 in the years named, were as follows:

	Lumber.	Shingles.	Lath.
1888	500,000,000	100,000,000	50,000,000
1887	1,000,000,000	200,000,000	100,000,000
1886	1,000,000,000	200,000,000	100,000,000
1885	1,000,000,000	200,000,000	100,000,000
1884	1,000,000,000	200,000,000	100,000,000

The salt market has been steadily during all active season, having advanced early in the year from 35 cents to 45 cents per barrel, where it has remained without fluctuation. The shipments for the year to Nov. 1 were as follows:

	Barrels.
1888
1887
1886
1885
1884

So far as learned the quantity in store here is about the same as last year at this time.

GRAIN MOVEMENTS.

The season was unusually cool from May 1 to July 1, which delayed considerably the spring crops, and during the last months it was dry, and the corn crop was cut short. The result is a shortage in the receipts at this point, there being a fair average crop. Corn and oats failure. There will probably not be 10,000 bushels to market in all Northern Michigan, and a great many farmers have none at all. The wheat crop was a good one, but considerably damaged in the wet weather. Prices have gone up from one cent to a cent and a half per bushel over last year, and manufacturers are doing a good business, and mostly running on full time. The buying are carrying a good many investments with here stocks of which they are holding for higher prices. The railroad movement in this portion since a healthy increase, the bulk of imports being manufactured products.

THE PENSION SHARES.

Showing to Whom Due to Avoid Being Defrauded.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 9.—The Pension Bureau is giving attention and is bringing up the rear of awarding pension attorneys, after a long sequence to adjust the following important cases and errors:

It has been suggested that the friend many of the deserving and worthy unpensioned should assist in the investigation of the pensioned cases, and with their private knowledge of the parties under their charge to bring to the light of day the fraudulent pensioners. Many of these pensioners are receiving pensions for disabilities which they never had, and which they have been receiving for years. The government is being defrauded out of thousands of dollars annually by these men, and it is the duty of every honest citizen to help to bring them to justice. The expense of such a search would be very small, and the result would be a great saving to the government. Many of these pensioners have made the acquaintance of a number of others in camp, and have formed associations where they meet and discuss their methods of defrauding the government. Many of these pensioners have been receiving pensions for years, and have been
